The First Year of HX

Homework Express is finishing up its second season and first complete year. One of the most exciting parts of the show for the viewers (and us, too!) have been the fun and interesting guests we've had.

The most notable of guests was Youngstown Mayor Jay Williams. We've worked with a lot of experts from Youngstown State University – including professor of geology Dr. Ray Beiersdorfer, Rick Pirko from the Physics Department and professor of physics Dr. Mike Serra. And The Vindicator's Spelling Bee Champion Ellyana Kessler even stopped by.

We've also featured local students as co-hosts, including the Merchant family from Youngstown and Girard High School student Ashley Belcik. It's part of our new opportunity for students – Express Guest.

Producers are looking for students to become directly involved with Homework Express by being on it! Students have a chance to meet host Kelly Stevens, the show's teachers and even get to be on the show themselves!

It's a great way for students to see the work that goes into the making of television. If you know of anyone interested in being the next Express Guest – contact producers at homeworkexpress@gmail.com.

Student Submissions

Homework Express is offering another chance for students to interact with Homework Express. Producers are offering a chance to have for their work to be aired on our show!

Producers are accepting short segments from students to be aired on Homework Express. It's a great way to let everyone know what you're doing at your school, accomplishments of staff and students, or just how unique your school is!

Guidelines and necessary forms are available from our Web site: www.homeworkexpress.org.

PARTNER PROFILE

A Quote on Education:

"Tell me and I'll forget.
Show me, and I may not remember. Involve me, and I'll understand."

Summer Break Nears

As students and teachers get ready to finish the year and enjoy the summer, the cast and crew of Homework Express is getting ready for Season Three.

Homework Express will air its final episode of the 2005-2006 school year on Thursday, May 18. We'll re-broadcast past shows in the regular time slot, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30 p.m.

When the next season begins on September 19, we'll continue to teach math and science, anchored in the Ohio Academic Content Standards, guided by an interest in helping young people excel.

Homework Express is committed to helping students pass the Ohio Graduation Tests. Ohio students are required to pass the OGTs to graduate.
