Viewers Voice Appreciation

One of the most important aspects of Homework Express has always been the interaction between viewer and show; student and teacher, like every good classroom. And now, Homework Express has received feedback from viewers, letting us know what they think. These testimonials have presented eye-opening and fun perspectives of the TV we make on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

In one testimonial, Jesse, a 7th-grader from Volney Rogers said, "I like the way the teachers give the information on Homework Express and if the child doesn't understand it, they will teach them in another way so they understand." Another 7th grader, Mancy from Youngstown, said, "Homework Express is a really fun show. It helps so much with all of my homework problems."

These testimonials are among many we have received. We'll include another student's testimonial in each issue of LiveLive.

HX Credit Card

Homework Express is excited to announce the latest and one of the most exciting thank-you gifts for callers – the Homework Express Credit Card. Lucky students who receive the card will be able to turn it in for extra credit. The viewer will receive the card with a letter instructing its proper use. Though teacher participation may vary, students are able to turn in the card for a variable amount of extra credit – for the student showing initiative in their education outside of the classroom.

Every student who has a question answered live on Homework Express by one of our teachers will have a chance to win the Homework Express Credit Card. All students have to do is call (330) 941-2030, or 1-866-941-2030 Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30 p.m. for their chance to win!

Web Feature: KidInfo.com

A recent guest shared one helpful solution for students researching at – www.kidinfo.com. Linda Guterba, a Canfield educator, stopped by Homework Express on Sept. 28 to share with viewers the website that she owns and operates. She said what makes kidinfo.com different is her personal screening of links.

Guterba said she visits linked sites frequently to avoid listing broken or dead resources. What makes kidinfo.com so convenient for students is the manner in which the links are included. Guterba breaks down areas such as English, science and social studies into very fine-tuned categories.

Visit www.kidinfo.com for a great tool at any age for researching!
