Tech savvy Bosak enjoys experience on HX crew

Frank Bosak is a junior in the telecommunications program here at Youngstown State University. Although he has no determined minor yet, Frank has a great handle on most anything technical. He has worked with Homework Express for the past two years mastering many of the essential crew positions. When not completing various projects for Homework Express, Frank can be found working as a computer technician in the Warren City Schools.

"Homework Express has really helped me realize how much I need to concentrate on every piece of the puzzle," Frank states about the field of telecommunications.

After graduation Frank hopes to work with a television news station. He anticipates becoming involved with the sports section and being on the field production team.
